

Conversation with Bob

(Bob = Boss of bosses = Ultimate Reality)

Dan: Hi Bob :).

Bob: How are you, Dan?

Dan: I am excited, Bob!

Bob: About what?

Dan: What you just gave me!

Bob: What was it?

Dan: Opportunities. I was able to publish my short video: Transit Planet Earth.

Transit Planet Earth

Bob: You always had this opportunity.

Dan: I have been telling people about you. They confuse you with God.

Bob: I am not God! If I were, then dogshit lying on the pavement would also be God. Have you seen dogshit lately on the pavement? Well, it is me! I am a manifestation of what you see, hear and feel at this moment. I am what is!

Dan: I know, but it is tough to explain it as you do. So, if a mosquito is buzzing above my bed at midnight, it is also you. Correct?

Bob: Yeah, so is a snail crawling on your front porch. So, open your eyes and do not step on me, or I will send you flying on your butt.

Dan: What if my client does not turn up for my meeting tomorrow? Another of your tricks?

Bob: You can perceive it that way. I am the Boss, and I can whack you any way I want. You can feel heavily disappointed or depressed by my absence and screw up your day. Or you can turn your head and focus on other things I gave you. Go and take a walk in the park with your legs. And listen to the birds. Their presence is also a manifestation of me as I am the Ultimate Reality.

Dan: Are you sure you are not God?

Bob: God probably receives millions of requests for help in the form of prayers. I don't. I am just what is – or is not. Being visible and invisible is also part of the Ultimate Reality I call myself. I can manifest in the here and now. I am also on the wall staring at you. If you do not recognize me and bang your head on it, you will get whacked in the head. Not me. I am just what I am.

Dan: And what if...

Bob: Sorry for interrupting, Dan. You hear some people say: You know, it is what it is. They are referring to me, the Boss of bosses. Of course, God is above me, but I am what it is! Guys like the late Mafia mobster Jimmy Fratianno would often refer to me as one of "them" things. The Covid-19 is also one of "them" things. So is the wind – you can't see, but it can create storms.

Dan: Are you happy, Boss?

Bob: Sure, because there are zillions of opportunities for you guys and girls. Look at all those manifestations before you: technological advancements, new inventions, and opportunities every year. You'll see an abundance of choices if you stop hitting your head against the wall when you fail to get what you wanted initially. Just move on.

Don't let me whack you!

Dan: True, most people aren't aware they have abundance. What advice can you give to someone who just found out his spouse was cheating on him?

Bob: It is what it is. You'll have to pay more attention to the person you are involved with, or otherwise, I will manifest in ways that will shake up your self-esteem when the other person leaves you to find his or her needs elsewhere.

Dan: Why are some countries in serious trouble? And how could you help?

Bob: Most politicians take the finger for the moon. They want to feel good but are focused on having power for themselves and not caring for their people. In these situations, I often side with the people and appear in demonstrations. Sometimes this can turn violent and nasty. Leaders will then have to examine their errors. As the Boss of bosses, I need to manifest my presence.

Dan: Sounds easy!

Bob: I can also trigger a tsunami or an earthquake if necessary to wake you up, guys!

Dan: You mean we are asleep and live like zombies? Is that what you are inferring?

Bob: Nah! I flow with your planet. If you reject and do not appreciate what God has given you, I will remove it from you. Do not forget that I manifest in hundreds if not thousands of positive ways. You guys can appreciate all the things at your disposal.

Dan: You're right, Boss. Most of us are turning to God and not aware of the beautiful things we have here on our planet. People destroy, pollute, corrupt, and think they can get away with it.

Bob: My job is to restore balance and maintain stability.

Dan: You also have so much power. Kings, queens, billionaires, and country leaders fear you.

Bob: If they are fearful, they are in their nightmares or illusions. I'm also the manifestation of beautiful things, and there are many things one can be grateful for and appreciate.

Dan: If reality is so wonderful, why are so many people unhappy?

Bob: Their illusions or some of their desires are colliding with me. I am what is - a reality. Not what they wish or hope it to be. If they are not as flexible as bending grass before a strong wind I have no choice but to break them as I do with some trees.

That's the law of ultimate reality.

Dan: I got it!

Bob: You want to feel good, right? Then don't f*CK with me, or I'll whack you. I'm the Boss of bosses. Even kings, queens, the richest men on earth get whacked. I can bring down whole empires. Remember the Roman empire? And civilizations, remember the Atlantis civilization? If not, go back and read your history, Dan.

Dan: One of my clients is anxious about the future. He runs a successful company, but he's worried now as he has problems navigating in the unknown.

Bob: That's part of his job: navigating the unknown. If he wants me to, I can make it ten times more difficult. That way he learns faster!

Dan: You're very kind, Bob. But I don't think he would appreciate that.

Bob: Then get him to appreciate that he has a business and something to do every day. He can walk, talk and maybe dance. If I took away his legs, he might not be able to dance anymore. Put on a piece of music he likes and dance with him. He'll soon forget about his worries when he appreciates he can still dance, eat, sleep or do other things, instead of worrying for nothing. Tell him to have faith in me.

Dan: I listened a few days ago to Michael Porter, a distinguished professor at Harvard who believes we are in the golden age of business. What is your opinion, Bob?

Bob: Yes, I agree with him! It's time we shift into positive gear. I was at the event too. I'm everywhere!

Dan: So, if we worry, you're not responsible for wasting our time and energy.

Bob: Correct. Listen, if I offered a lift to 4 of you guys in my Rolls Royce on your way to your offices, two of you might accept the offer and happily appreciate it. Two of you may not. One could even feel resentful that I have such a great car while the second may think I just wanted to show off my Rolls. Whatever happens, I just manifested my presence and triggered different behaviors.

Dan: OK, I see it. People can either perceive a cup as half-full or half-empty. It has nothing to do with you, right? I mean you are the Boss. A half-full or a half-empty cup depending on how others see you.

Bob: Sometimes, I manifest myself as an aggressive, angry man or woman. If you reacted negatively, you have permitted me to whack you again.

Dan: So, how can we avoid getting thrashed by you, Bob?

Bob: Look at me in the eyes and shout: that's Bloody Bob again! And focus on something else. Be conscious of the things around you. Or stop to focus on more pleasant thoughts. Look, I'm not always out there to get you.

Dan: So, to feel good, happy, and confident, I must see the good side of you. The BigGoodBob that you are allows me to feel that way. But how do I create my reality without relying on you?

Bob: You need to control your thoughts or perceptions.

Dan: But how?

Bob: See questions below:

Conversation with Bob

(Bob = Boss of bosses = Ultimate Reality)

... Part 2

Bob: Great to see you again, Dan!

Dan: I'm just as excited as the last time we had our first conversation, Bob!

Bob: What's new?

Dan: I'll be showing people how to dance with you!

Bob: How would you do that?

Dan: First of all, they would need to know about you and read our first conversation

Bob: OK, how can I help?

Dan: Well, most people are getting their feet stepped on simply because no one teaches them how to dance with you. They are not flexible or fast enough. They do not even see you as you seem invisible to them till they get stepped on and start screaming in pain. They do not know who you are, Bob. It's a pity 99% of people do not understand that you are the Boss of bosses! That you can hurt them.

Bob: OK, I am Ultimate Reality or what is in life. Not what you want or wish it to be. I am reality manifesting itself in many ways and situations in your life – good or bad that you encounter every day.

Dan: In other words, if you got a job promotion or received news that you lost your job, it's Bob! It is a reality you are experiencing. It may not be what you wish or hope for, but it is what it is.

Bob: Everything that manifests itself is me. I am that snail crawling on the pavement. I am a failure, success, joy, or unhappiness you see around you. I am also gold buried deep in the ground or polluted rivers or opportunities around every street corner. I am what is Ultimate Reality!

Dan: You are the homeless man in the street. You are also Elon Musk or a spider on the wall.

Bob: Talking about Elon Musk, Musk will lose his billions and eventually his life here. His existence on Earth is a blink of an eye on a cosmic time scale. However, his strong belief in consciousness will save him. Consciousness is eternal. Countless reports of NDEs (Near Death Experience) show you migrate to another dimension when you leave your MOHO (Mobile Home). See testimonies from these YouTube videos: <https://www.youtube.com/channel/UCkMhHJniwJzW3DjUxozPnQA>.

Dan: Elon has managed to create a series of coagulated illusions. From our observations, anyone can learn how to master illusion and change their immediate environment.

Elon Musk has bones, skins, and stomachs. He also has a zillion-dollar MOHO parked on his shoulders between his ears. So do all of you following this conversation.

You can also use illusion to change your behavior in a split second. Or create long-lasting behavioral traits you like.

Joe: I am permanently stressed and anxious. What's going on? Are you causing all this, Bob? How can I change this personality trait?

Bob: Some of your desires are crashing into me. I don't get hurt, but you do in this data collision. You feel anxious or stressed. To avoid this collision, you need to be patient, an excellent trait to acquire.

Ana: Can I ask a question?

Dan: Yes, please do!

Ana: So my mum is Bob! So is my bed, dog, and goldfish, if I got it right?

Bob: Correct. Your mum exists, and the bed, dog, and goldfish exist and are part of Ultimate Reality. So is the earthquake happening thousands of miles away? Yes. They are a manifestation of reality and not illusions.

Dan: So are money and opportunities! But we need to mine them, like mine for gold and raw materials, diamonds, oil, and other gems in the ground.

Bob: If you see an 80-year-old man walking by with a cane, your experience or subconscious illusion could remind you of someone close to you. And you may feel good or bad depending on this illusion. If you had a tyrannical grandfather that resembles this man, you may feel negatively towards this stranger and avoid him.

Dan: But the reality is this man is looking for an heir to his highly lucrative business empire, besides seeking new partners. But you have no access to this information, buried in the man's brain.

Bob: See how most people judge a book by its cover and miss out on the real story.

Dan: 40 years ago, I started a DMO (Data Mining Operation) project with 50 student volunteers to gather information on jobs and business opportunities. The volunteers worked in pairs, accosting strangers in the streets, shopping malls, and parks.

Bob: Is that how you taught them to dance with me, Dan?

Dan: Yes. And the results were astonishing! They randomly asked strangers for tips to find jobs or business opportunities and collected much information. This DMO, renamed Data Mining for Opportunities, lasted three weeks.

This project could help trigger one billion happy faces worldwide if done on a massive scale. It would bring people together to help one another physically in the flesh. Do it in pairs. One mouth asking the questions (data mining) and four ears storing the data.

To any stranger: "Hi, we have a question for you. Do you have any idea where we could meet people in this city? Or find opportunities to make money – doing part-time work legally?"

You could access these questions easily through Google, but this unique face-to-face DMO is far richer than you could ever imagine.

Ana: So, how can I participate in this DMO project?

Dan: I'll be holding a weekly 60-minute Zoom chat where anyone can attend to get more details of this group project. You could also start this project yourself and share your experience and feedback anonymously or record a short video relating your encounters through Screencast-O-Matic (a free software) and send it to: dan@myfeelgoodnow.com.

Bob: I'm looking forward to dancing with you all!

Dan: We are scheduling the weekly Zoom chat every Monday at 7:00 PM CET, starting December 13, 2021, onwards. In this chat, you will get tips and tricks to make your DMO project a success while having fun doing it. We will also provide you with other unique tools to master illusion and dance with Bob.
